Investment Disclaimer

Investment in crypto assets is associated with the following risks:

- ✓ Risks relating with engaging in business activities in particular jurisdictions,
- ✓ Risks relating with economic conditions,
- ✓ Risks relating with competitive environment,
- ✓ Risks relating with fast-pace technological and market changes,
- ✓ As well as with other factors that may result in significant deviations from the anticipated financial performance.

RusCoin does not accept investment from US citizens in US Dollars and other fiat currencies; however, US citizens are encouraged to buy RusCoin with their cryptocurrencies (Bitcoin, Ethereum, etc.) at their discretion and entirely at their own risk, as the blockchain technology does not stipulate for the identification of nationality.

RusCoin disclaims any responsibility for any illegal actions by US citizens or citizens of any other countries, since by virtue of using blockchain technologies RusCoin has no way of knowing about any such actions.

The abovementioned factors suggest that actual performance may significantly vary from any assumptions or forward-looking representations as contained in this document.

1. Abstract

Thanks to the revolutionary invention of Professor Yuji Ijiri in 1989 - Triple-Entry Bookkeeping¹ - and the blockchain based on that invention there are a growing number of new exciting opportunities for the financial sector and real economy.

RusCoin is a Fintech project aimed at investing assets raised through ICO in various business projects in the Russian Federation and worldwide as promoted by Russian founders with an Internal Rate of Return >35%.

We use Waves, a decentralized blockchain platform, in order to attract investors in our projects via ICO² mechanism ('Initial Coin Offering').

Buyers of RusCoin tokens thus become co-owners of real and existing businesses and/or readily obtainable assets, while the blockchain technology provides for complete transparency and traceability of all our transactions and investment projects by RusCoin token owners. A mechanism known as Smartcontract³ is one of the tools to ensure such transparency.

2. Problem

The Russian financial market is substantially undercapitalized.

By comparison, the capitalization of Apple Inc. reached USD 1 trillion on August 2, 2018. That is 1.6 times higher than capitalization of the entire Russian securities market! At the same time, the potential for growth of the national stock market is uncapped, with many Russian companies remaining hugely undervalued.

Sectoral economic sanctions introduced by the United States and a number of Western countries against Russia put restrictions on funding of entities related with this country.

3. Solution

The mechanism of ICO allows for legitimate circumvention of these restrictions, i.e. IEO helps raise crypto assets in order to fund business projects linked to Russia. At the first stage of RusCoin project, most of the funds raised will be used to buy up a blocking stake (25% + 1 share) of PJSC Moscow Exchange (MOEX, moex.com/en). This will enable the RusCoin project to introduce blockchain products and companies on Moscow Exchange.

Product

Why Buy Shares of PJSC Moscow Exchange?

- High Level of Free Float: ~57.5%
- High Dividend Yield: ~10% p.a.
- Enormous Growth Potential: ~5-10 times the current price
- Moscow Exchange earns its transaction fees, regardless of whether markets grow or shrink
- Buying up the blocking stake (25% + 1 share) allows to introduce Blockchain-related products and companies on Moscow Exchange
- In case of a targeted buy up of shares of Moscow Exchange the MOEX share price will grow from approximately RUB 112($1.78) per share to RUB 1,000 ($15.9) per share, and RusCoin price will then grow approx. 9 times to US$450, taking into account all relevant expenses

Again, Why Moscow Exchange?

A Global Industry Leader

- A leading exchange for trading a wide range of assets including equities, bonds, derivatives, FX, commodities and money market instruments
- Resilient business model that performs well throughout the economic cycle
- Robust centralized post-trade infrastructure that enables provision of clearing, settlement and depository services
- Leadership in a global context:
 - No. 2 in terms of trading volumes of bonds among world's exchanges in 2016, according to the World Federation of Exchanges;
 - No. 4 in terms of the number of derivative contracts traded in 2016, as per the Futures Industry Association;
 - FX, index, and commodity derivatives traded on Moscow Exchange are among the most liquid derivative contracts globally based on the data collected by the Futures Industry Association

High Growth Potential

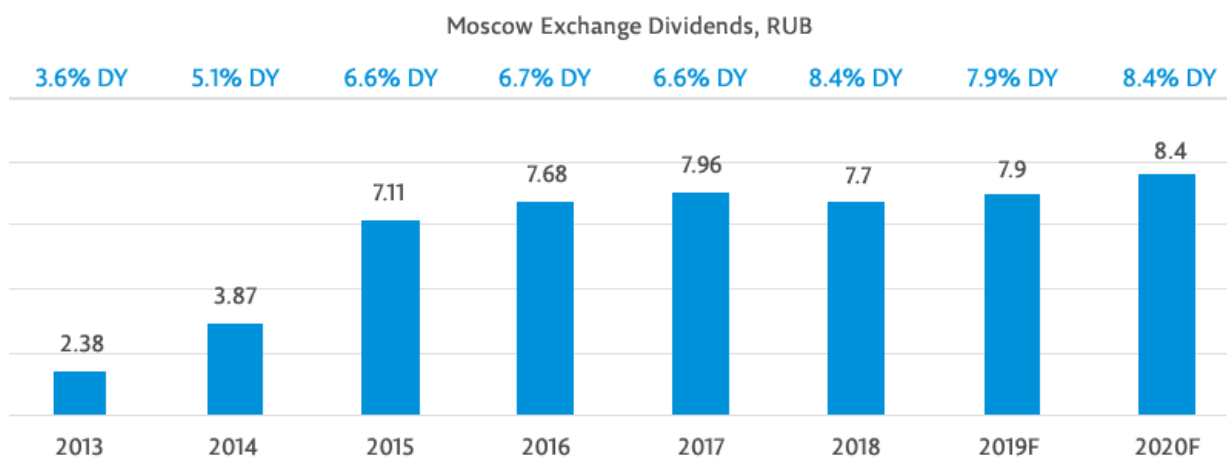

- Undemanding valuations of the Russian equity market imply there is potential for growth
- The Russian financial market has ample room for further development as reflected by the low market capitalization to GDP and debt to GDP ratios

Strong Financial Performance

- One of the highest EBITDA margins among global exchanges (77.1% in 2016)
- Impressive growth history:
- CAGR of net income of 32.0% in 2012-2016

Attractive Dividend Policy

- The dividend policy establishes a payout ratio of no less than 55% of consolidated net profit as per IFRS. The current dividend policy of Moscow Exchange is among the most appealing in the financial sector.

Successful results of infrastructure and regulatory reforms

- Transition from T0 to T+2 for equities and to T+1 for government bonds
- Establishment of a fully functioning CSD and an integrated CCP
- Introduction of access to Euroclear and Clearstream, international securities depositories
- New Russian corporate governance code and MOEX Listing Rules aligned with international best practices
- New incentives for retail investors and Russian pensions funds to invest in securities
- New laws on insider trading and market manipulation adopted
- Amendments in the legal- and tax regulation of retail investors and private pension funds

High level of transparency and adherence to stringent standards of corporate governance

- No controlling shareholder; 57.5% of shares are part of Free Float (as of Sept 2018)
- 6 out of 12 of the Supervisory Board members are independent
- The Company's corporate governance code aligned with best international practices
- Alignment of management and shareholder interests through a long-term share-based incentive program
- Transparent and timely financial and operational disclosure

The RusCoin Appeal

- Interest from retail and corporate investors from around the world due to hype around blockchain and cryptocurrencies;
- High rate of return thanks to existing profitable businesses and transparent investments;
- Cryptocurrencies and blockchain technology are recognized by a growing number of countries, for example, at 2017 St. Petersburg International Economic Forum it was announced that a 'crypto Ruble' would be introduced by 2022;
- Clear investment model using the funds raised;
- Highly experienced and professional project team;
- Reputable IEO agent;
- RusCoin can be used for international payments without intermediate banks (p2p model);
- In addition to the MOEX share buy up project RusCoin will partake in other profitable international projects

Business Model
